WHY POLY LUMBER?

When it comes to furnishing your outdoor patio, poly lumber is an easy choice; it's durable, long-lasting, and very low maintenance. All of our products are made with Tangent sustainable poly lumber. This material is made with 95% certified recycled material that is toxin and chemical free. By using poly lumber furniture in your outdoor space, you can be assured that your furniture will not splinter, crack, peel, fade, or rot, and this material does not require extra painting, waterproofing, or staining. Poly lumber is also resistant to mold and mildew with its non-porous composition, making it simple to clean with soap and water or even with a power washer. We offer a wide selection of poly lumber colors to choose from, including textured wood grains, to complement your outdoor area. Each color runs throughout the poly lumber boards, not just painted on the surface. We are proud to say that each piece of our poly lumber furniture is made in the USA by Amish craftsmen. So when choosing a material for your outdoor furniture, choose poly lumber for an affordable solution that is weather-resistant and will last for years to come.

THE ECCB OUTDOOR DIFFERENCE

Creating great value by offering high quality, sustainable outdoor furniture at affordable prices has always been the mission that drives us and shapes every decision we make, from the materials we use to the styles and features that we offer.

Handled with Care

Every piece of ECCB Outdoor furniture is touched by human hands. With few exceptions, our furniture is made at our production center in Mercer, Pennsylvania by our in-house team of Amish craftsmen who cut, screw, assemble, and inspect every item that leaves the floor. For those pieces that aren't made in-house, we've carefully selected outside manufacturers that treat our products with the same care and attention as we do.

Built to Endure & Entertain

We build our furniture to commercial grade standards, even though it is mostly used in residential settings. We do this by using thicker, heavier materials and more bracing than competing poly furniture at similar price points. By building our furniture to commercial standards, we can ensure that it will outperform and outlast competing brands that are designed specifically for residential use. We also offer built-in features and accessories that most other brands charge more for.

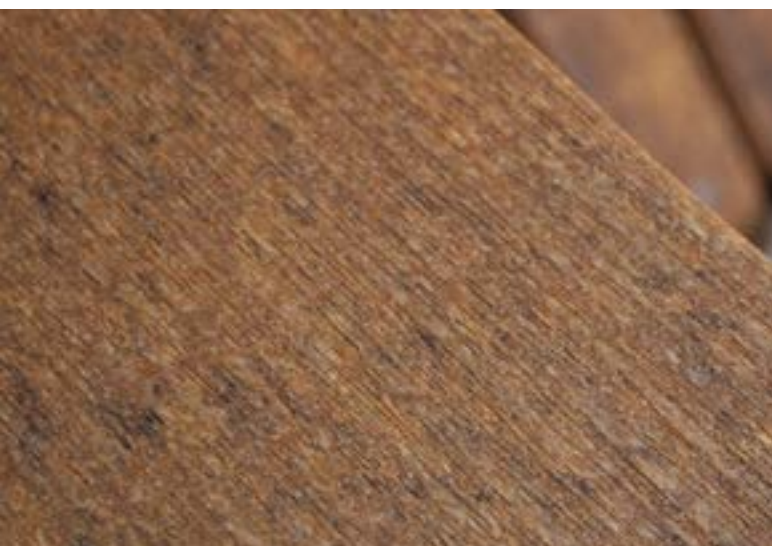

POLY LUMBER COLORS

At ECCB Outdoor, we believe that you have the power to choose, especially when it comes to the look of your patio. We stock a wide selection of colors in our most popular Adirondack chair models and offer made-to-order patio furniture collections. Choose from 20+ poly lumber colors that you can mix and match effortlessly, no matter the furniture style you select. With these custom options available, lead times can vary. Please call our customer care representatives at 800-687-5086 for the most accurate lead times and availability.

WOOD GRAIN TEXTURES

We are excited to announce that we now offer six textured wood grain poly lumber colors! This poly lumber gives the appearance of real wood, but doesn't require the rigorous maintenance of real wood.
